Proposal for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purpose of money laundering and terrorist financing

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 114 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national Parliaments,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) Massive flows of dirty money can damage the stability and reputation of the financial sector and threaten the single market, and terrorism shakes the very foundations of our society. In addition to the criminal law approach, a preventive effort via the financial system can produce results.

- (2) The soundness, integrity and stability of credit and financial institutions and confidence in the financial system as a whole could be seriously jeopardised by the efforts of criminals and their associates either to disguise the origin of criminal proceeds or to channel lawful or unlawful money for terrorist purposes. In order to facilitate their criminal activities, money launderers and terrorist financiers could try to take advantage of the freedom of capital movements and the freedom to supply financial services which the integrated financial area entails, if certain coordinating measures are not adopted at Union level.
- (3) The current proposal is the fourth Directive to deal with the threat of money laundering. Council Directive 91/308/EEC of 10 June 1991 on prevention of the use of the financial system for the purpose of money laundering<sup>4</sup> defined money laundering in terms of drugs offences and imposed obligations solely on the financial sector. Directive 2001/97/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of December 2001 amending Council Directive 91/308/EEC<sup>5</sup> extended the scope both in terms of the crimes covered and the range of professions and activities covered. In June 2003 the Financial Action Task Force (hereinafter referred to as the FATF) revised its Recommendations to cover terrorist financing, and provided more detailed requirements in relation to customer identification and verification, the situations where a higher risk of money laundering may justify enhanced measures and also situations where a reduced risk may justify less rigorous controls. These changes were reflected in Directive 2005/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 October 2005 on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purpose of money laundering and terrorist financing<sup>6</sup> and Commission Directive 2006/70/EC of 1 August 2006 laying down implementing measures for Directive 2005/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council as regards the definition of politically exposed person and the technical criteria for simplified customer due diligence procedures and for exemption on grounds of a financial activity conducted on an occasional or very limited basis<sup>7</sup>.
- (4) Money laundering and terrorist financing are frequently carried out in an international context. Measures adopted solely at national or even European Union level, without taking account of international coordination and cooperation, would have very limited effects. The measures adopted by the European Union in this field should therefore be consistent with other action undertaken in other international fora. The European Union action should continue to take particular account of the Recommendations of the FATF, which constitutes the foremost international body active in the fight against money laundering and terrorist financing. With the view to reinforce the efficacy of the fight against money laundering and terrorist financing, Directives 2005/60/EC and 2006/70/EC should be aligned with the new FATF Recommendations adopted and expanded in February 2012.

- (5) Furthermore, the misuse of the financial system to channel criminal or even clean money to terrorist purposes poses a clear risk to the integrity, proper functioning, reputation and stability of the financial system. Accordingly, the preventive measures of this Directive should cover not only the manipulation of money derived from crime but also the collection of money or property for terrorist purposes.
- (6) The use of large cash payments is highly vulnerable to money laundering and terrorist financing. In order to increase vigilance and mitigate the risks posed by cash payments natural or legal persons trading in goods should be covered by this Directive to the extent that they make or receive cash payments of EUR 10 000 or more. Member States may decide to adopt stricter provisions including a lower threshold or a general limitation to the usage of cash.
- (6a) The use of electronic money products is increasingly considered as a substitute for bank accounts and therefore warrants subjecting these products to the AML/CFT obligations. However, in certain circumstances electronic money products could be exempt from CDD provided they meet established risk mitigating conditions. These include a requirement that electronic money issued without performing CDD should be used exclusively for purchasing goods or services. The exempt products should not be used for person-to-person transfers. Moreover, the amount stored electronically should be low enough in order to preclude circumvention of the AML/CFT rules and appropriate safeguards should be put in place to prevent the same person from obtaining unlimited amount of anonymous electronic money products.
- (7) Legal professionals, as defined by the Member States, should be subject to the provisions of this Directive when participating in financial or corporate transactions, including providing tax advice, where there is the greatest risk of the services of those legal professionals being misused for the purpose of laundering the proceeds of criminal activity or for the purpose of terrorist financing. There should, however, be exemptions from any obligation to report information obtained either before, during or after judicial proceedings, or in the course of ascertaining the legal position of a client. Thus, legal advice should remain subject to the obligation of professional secrecy unless the legal counsellor is taking part in money laundering or terrorist financing, the legal advice is provided for money laundering or terrorist financing purposes or the lawyer knows that the client is seeking legal advice for money laundering or terrorist financing purposes.

- (8) Directly comparable services should be treated in the same manner when provided by any of the professionals covered by this Directive. In order to ensure the respect of the rights guaranteed by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, in the case of auditors, external accountants and tax advisors, who, in some Member States, may defend or represent a client in the context of judicial proceedings or ascertain a client's legal position, the information they obtain in the performance of those tasks should not be subject to the reporting obligations in accordance with this Directive.
- (9) It is important to expressly highlight that "tax crimes" related to direct and indirect taxes are included in the broad definition of "criminal activity" under this Directive in line with the revised FATF Recommendations. Differences in national definition should not create any restrictions to the implementation of the provisions of the Directive, especially as regards the reporting obligations and domestic and international cooperation between FIUs and other competent authorities.
- (10) There is a need to identify any natural person who exercises ownership or control over a legal person. While finding a specified percentage shareholding will not automatically result in finding the beneficial owner, it is one evidential factor among others to be taken into account. Identification and verification of beneficial owners should, where relevant, extend to legal entities that own other legal entities and obliged entities should ultimately look for the natural person who exercises ownership or control of the legal person that is the customer. There may be cases where no natural person is identifiable who either ultimately owns, or who exerts control through ownership interests over a legal entity. In such cases obliged entities, having exhausted all other means of identification, should identify and take reasonable measures to verify the relevant natural person who exercises control through other means which may include the senior managing official.
- (11) The need for accurate and up-to-date information on the beneficial owner is a key factor in tracing criminals who might otherwise hide their identity behind a corporate structure. Member States should therefore ensure that legal entities retain information on their beneficial ownership and make this information available to competent authorities and obliged entities. With a view to enhancing transparency, registries or other specified locations shall be used for storing information on beneficial ownership of companies. For the same reason Member States are encouraged to make this information publicly accessible. In order to ensure a level playing field among different types of legal form, trustees are also bound to communicate beneficial ownership information to the specified location and they should declare their status to obliged entities.

- (12) This Directive should also apply to those activities of the obliged entities covered by this Directive which are performed on the internet.
- (13) The use of the gambling sector to launder the proceeds of criminal activity is of concern. In order to mitigate the risks related to the sector [...], an obligation for providers of gambling services posing higher risks to conduct customer due diligence for single transactions of EUR 2 000 or more should be laid down. Member States should consider applying this threshold to the purchase and exchange of gambling chips, collection of winnings as well as wagering a stake. Providers of gambling services with physical premises (e.g. casinos and gaming houses) should ensure that customer due diligence, if it is taken at the point of entry to the premises, can be linked to the transactions conducted by the customer on those premises.
- (14) The risk of money laundering and terrorist financing is not the same in every case. Accordingly, a risk-based approach should be used. The risk-based approach is not an unduly permissive option for Member States and obliged entities. It involves the use of evidence-based decision making to better target the money laundering and terrorist financing risks facing the European Union and those operating within it.
- (15) Underpinning the risk-based approach is a need for Member States to identify, understand and mitigate the money laundering and terrorist financing risks it faces. The importance of a supra-national approach to risk identification has been recognised at international level, and the European Supervisory Authority (European Banking Authority) (hereinafter ‘EBA’), established by Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Banking Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/78/EC<sup>8</sup>; the European Supervisory Authority (European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority) (hereinafter ‘EIOPA’), established by Regulation (EU) No 1094/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/79/EC<sup>9</sup>; and the European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority) (hereinafter ‘ESMA’), established by Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/77/EC<sup>10</sup>, should be tasked with issuing an opinion on the risks affecting the financial sector.

- (15a) The Commission is well placed to review specific cross-border threats, that could affect Internal Market and which cannot be identified and effectively combatted by individual Member States. Therefore, it should be entrusted with the responsibility of coordinating the assessment of the above-mentioned phenomena and with making recommendations on the appropriate measures to tackle the identified risks. Involvement of the relevant EU bodies, such as the Expert Group on Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing and the representatives from the Member States' Financial Intelligence Units (FIUs), is essential for the effectiveness of this process.
- (16) The results of risk assessments at Member State level should, where appropriate, be made available to obliged entities to enable them to identify, understand and mitigate their own risks.
- (17) In addition, to even better understand and mitigate risks at European Union level, Member States should share the results of their risk assessments with each other, the Commission and EBA, EIOPA and ESMA [...].
- (18) When applying the provisions of this Directive, it is appropriate to take account of the characteristics and needs of small obliged entities which fall under its scope, and to ensure a treatment which is appropriate to the specific needs of small obliged entities, and the nature of the business.
- (18a) The European Union should develop a common policy against third countries which have strategic deficiencies in their national AML/CFT regimes that pose significant risk to the financial system of the European Union. To coordinate work at the EU level to identify such jurisdictions drawing upon information and analogous lists by relevant international organisations and other credible sources, the power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the TFEU should be delegated to the Commission in respect of the establishment of the list of such jurisdictions. It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level. The Commission, when preparing and drawing up the delegated acts, should ensure a simultaneous, timely and appropriate transmission of the relevant documents to the European Parliament and to the Council. Appropriate enhanced risk mitigating measures should be applied by Member States with respect to entities from those indicated third countries. Countries not included in the list and their entities must not be automatically considered as compliant and should still have to be assessed on the risk sensitive basis.

- (19) Risk itself is variable in nature, and the variables, either on their own or in combination, may increase or decrease the potential risk posed, thus having an impact on the appropriate level of preventative measures, such as customer due diligence measures. Thus, there are circumstances in which enhanced due diligence should be applied and others in which simplified due diligence may be appropriate.
- (20) It should be recognised that certain situations present a greater risk of money laundering or terrorist financing. Although the identity and business profile of all customers should be established, there are cases where particularly rigorous customer identification and verification procedures are required.
- (21) This is particularly true of business relationships with individuals holding, or having held, important public positions, particularly those from countries where corruption is widespread. Such relationships may expose the financial sector in particular to significant reputational and legal risks. The international effort to combat corruption also justifies the need to pay special attention to such cases and to apply appropriate enhanced customer due diligence measures in respect of persons who hold or have held prominent functions domestically or abroad and senior figures in international organisations.
- (22) Obtaining approval from senior management for establishing business relationships need not, in all cases, imply obtaining approval from the board of directors. Granting of such approval should be possible by someone with sufficient knowledge of the institution's money laundering and terrorist financing risk exposure and sufficient seniority to make decisions affecting its risk exposure.
- (23) In order to avoid repeated customer identification procedures, leading to delays and inefficiency in business, it is appropriate, subject to suitable safeguards, to allow customers whose identification has been carried out elsewhere to be introduced to the obliged entities. Where an obliged entity relies on a third party, the ultimate responsibility for the customer due diligence procedure remains with the obliged entity to whom the customer is introduced. The third party, or the person that has introduced the customer, should also retain his own responsibility for compliance with the requirements in this Directive, including the requirement to report suspicious transactions and maintain records, to the extent that he has a relationship with the customer that is covered by this Directive.
- (24) In the case of agency or outsourcing relationships on a contractual basis between obliged entities and external natural or legal persons not covered by this Directive, any anti money laundering and anti-terrorist financing obligations for those agents or outsourcing service providers as part of the obliged entities, may only arise from contract and not from this Directive. The responsibility for complying with this Directive should remain with the obliged entity covered hereby.

- (25) All Member States have, or should, set up operationally independent and autonomous financial intelligence units (hereinafter referred to as FIUs) to collect and analyse the information which they receive with the aim of establishing links between suspicious transactions and underlying criminal activity in order to prevent and combat money laundering and terrorist financing. Suspicious transactions and other information relevant to money laundering, associated predicate offences and terrorist financing should be reported to the FIUs, which should serve as a national centre for receiving, analysing and disseminating to the competent authorities the results of its analysis [...]. All suspicious transactions, including attempted transactions, should be reported regardless of the amount of the transaction.
- (26) By way of derogation from the general prohibition on executing suspicious transactions, obliged entities may execute suspicious transactions before informing the competent authorities, where refraining from the execution thereof is impossible or likely to frustrate efforts to pursue the beneficiaries of a suspected money laundering or terrorist financing operation. This, however, should be without prejudice to the international obligations accepted by the Member States to freeze without delay funds or other assets of terrorists, terrorist organisations or those who finance terrorism, in accordance with the relevant United Nations Security Council resolutions.
- (27) Member States should have the possibility to designate an appropriate self-regulatory body of the professions referred to in Article 2(1)(3)(a),(b), and (d) as the authority to be informed in the first instance in place of the FIU. In line with the case law of the European Court of Human Rights, a system of first instance reporting to a self-regulatory body constitutes an important safeguard to uphold the protection of fundamental rights as concerns the reporting obligations applicable to lawyers.
- (28) Where a Member State decides to make use of the exemptions provided for in Article 33(2), it may allow or require the self-regulatory body representing the persons referred to therein not to transmit to the FIU any information obtained from those persons in the circumstances referred to in that Article.
- (29) There have been a number of cases of employees who report their suspicions of money laundering being subjected to threats or hostile action. Although this Directive cannot interfere with Member States' judicial procedures, this is a crucial issue for the effectiveness of the anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing system. Member States should be aware of this problem and should do whatever they can to protect employees or those persons in a comparable position from such threats or hostile action.

- (30) Directive 95/46/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 October 1995 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data<sup>11</sup>, as implemented in national law, is applicable to the processing of personal data for the purposes of this Directive.
- (31) Certain aspects of the implementation of this Directive involve the collection, analysis, storage and sharing of data. The processing of personal data should be permitted in order to comply with the obligations laid down in this Directive, including carrying out of customer due diligence, ongoing monitoring, investigation and reporting of unusual and suspicious transactions, identification of the beneficial owner of a legal person or legal arrangement, sharing of information by competent authorities and sharing of information by credit and financial institutions. The personal data collected should be limited to what is strictly necessary for the purpose of complying with the requirements of this Directive and not further processed in a way inconsistent with Directive 95/46/EC. In particular, further processing of personal data for commercial purposes should be strictly prohibited.
- (32) The fight against money-laundering and terrorist financing is recognised as an important public interest ground by all Member States.
- (33) This Directive is without prejudice to the protection of personal data processed in the framework of police and judicial cooperation in criminal matters, including the provisions of Framework decision 977/2008/JHA.
- (34) The rights of access of the data subject are applicable to the personal data processed for the purpose of this Directive. However, access by the data subject to information contained in a suspicious transaction report would seriously undermine the effectiveness of the fight against money laundering and terrorist financing. Limitations to this right in accordance with the rules laid down in Article 13 of Directive 95/46/EC may therefore be justified.
- (35) Persons who merely convert paper documents into electronic data and are acting under a contract with a credit institution or a financial institution do not fall within the scope of this Directive, nor does any natural or legal person that provides credit or financial institutions solely with a message or other support systems for transmitting funds or with clearing and settlement systems.

- (36) Money laundering and terrorist financing are international problems and the effort to combat them should be global. Where Union credit and financial institutions have branches and subsidiaries located in third countries where the legislation in this area is deficient, they should, in order to avoid the application of very different standards within the institution or group of institutions, apply Union standards or notify the competent authorities of the home Member State if application of such standards is impossible.
- (37) Feedback should, where practicable, be made available to obliged entities on the usefulness and follow-up of the suspicious transactions reports they present. To make this possible, and to be able to review the effectiveness of their systems to combat money laundering and terrorist financing Member States should keep and improve the relevant statistics. To further enhance the quality and consistency of the statistical data collected at Union level, the Commission should keep track of the EU-wide situation with respect to the fight against money laundering and terrorist financing and publish regular overviews.
- (37a) Where Member States decide to require issuers of electronic money and payment providers established on their territory in forms other than a branch, and whose head office is situated in another Member State [...], to appoint a central contact point in their territory, they should ensure that such a requirement is proportionate and does not go beyond what is necessary to achieve the aim to oversee the compliance with anti-money laundering and terrorist financing rules.
- (38) Competent authorities should ensure that, in regard to currency exchange offices, trust and company service providers or gambling service providers, the persons who effectively direct the business of such entities and the beneficial owners of such entities are fit and proper persons. The criteria for determining whether or not a person is fit and proper should, as a minimum, reflect the need to protect such entities from being misused by their managers or beneficial owners for criminal purposes.
- (38a) Where an obliged entity operates establishments in another Member State, the home country's competent authority is responsible for supervising the obliged entity's application of group AML/CTF policies and processes. This may involve on-site visits in establishments based in another Member State. The home country's competent authority should cooperate closely with the host country's competent authority and inform the host country's competent authority of any issues that could affect their assessment of the establishment's compliance with the host country's AML/CFT obligations.

(38b) Where an obliged entity operates establishments in another Member State, the host country's competent authority retains responsibility for enforcing the establishment's compliance with local AML/CTF requirements. The host country's competent authority should cooperate closely with the home country's competent authority and inform the home country's competent authority of any issues that could affect their assessment of the obliged entity's application of group AML/CTF policies and processes.

(39) Taking into account the transnational character of money laundering and terrorist financing, co-ordination and co-operation between EU FIUs are extremely important. This co-operation has so far only been addressed by Council Decision 2000/642/JHA of 17 October 2000 concerning arrangements for cooperation between financial intelligence units of the Member States in respect of exchanging information<sup>12</sup>. In order to ensure better co-ordination and administrative cooperation between FIUs, and in particular to ensure that suspicious transactions reports reach the FIU of the Member State where the report would be of most use, more detailed, further going and up-dated rules should be included in this Directive.

(39a) The "EU Financial Intelligence Units' Platform", an informal group composed of representatives from Member States' FIUs and active since 2006, is used to facilitate cooperation among national FIUs and exchange views on co-operation related issues such as effective international FIUs co-operation, the joint analysis of cross-border cases as well as trends and factors relevant to assessing money laundering and terrorist financing risks both on the national and supranational level.

(40) Improving the exchange of information between FIUs within the EU is of particular importance to face the transnational character of money laundering and terrorist financing. The use of secure facilities for the exchange of information, especially the decentralised computer network FIU.net and the techniques offered by that network should be encouraged by Member States. The initial exchange between the FIUs of information related to money laundering or terrorist financing for analytical purposes and which is not further processed or disseminated should be allowed unless it would compromise the legitimate interests of the Member State or of a natural or legal person.

- (40a) In order to be able to respond fully and rapidly to enquiries from FIUs, obliged entities need to have in place effective systems enabling them to have full and timely access through secure and confidential channels to information about business relationships that they maintain or have maintained with specified legal or natural persons. Member States could, for instance, consider putting in place systems of banking registries or electronic data retrieval systems which would provide FIUs with access to information on bank accounts. Member States should also consider establishing mechanisms to ensure that competent authorities have procedures in place in order to identify assets without prior notification to the owner.
- (40b) Member States should encourage that their competent authorities can rapidly, constructively and effectively provide the widest range of international cooperation for the purposes of this Directive, including the exchange of information between non-counterpart authorities amongst Member States.
- (41) The importance of combating money laundering and terrorist financing should lead Member States to lay down effective, proportionate and dissuasive penalties in national law for failure to respect the national provisions adopted pursuant to this Directive. Member States currently have a diverse range of administrative measures and penalties for breaches of the key preventative measures. This diversity could be detrimental to the efforts put in combating money laundering and terrorist financing and the Union's response is at risk of being fragmented. This Directive should therefore include a range of administrative measures and penalties that Member States shall have available for serious, repetitive or systematic breaches of the requirements relating to customer due diligence measures, record keeping, reporting of suspicious transactions and internal controls of obliged entities. This range should be sufficiently broad to allow Member States and competent authorities to take account of the differences between obliged entities, in particular between credit and financial institutions and other obliged entities, as regards their size, characteristics and areas of activity. In the application of this Directive, Member States should ensure that the imposition of administrative measures and penalties in accordance with this Directive and of criminal penalties in accordance with national law does not breach the principle of ne bis in idem.
- (41a) For the purposes of assessing the appropriateness of persons holding a management function in or otherwise controlling obliged entities, an efficient system of exchange of information is required where EBA, subject to data protection requirements, should be entitled to maintain a central database containing details of administrative penalties and measures, including any appeals in relation thereto, which is accessible to competent authorities only. In any event, information about criminal convictions should be exchanged in accordance with Framework Decision 2009/315/JHA and Decision 2009/316/JHA, as transposed into national law, and with other relevant provisions of national law.

- (42) Technical standards in financial services should ensure consistent harmonisation and adequate protection of depositors, investors and consumers across the Union. As bodies with highly specialised expertise, it would be efficient and appropriate to entrust EBA, EIOPA and ESMA with the elaboration of draft regulatory technical standards which do not involve policy choices, for submission to the Commission.
- (43) The Commission should adopt the draft regulatory technical standards developed by EBA, EIOPA and ESMA pursuant to Article 42 of this Directive by means of delegated acts pursuant to Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010, Regulation (EU) No 1094/2010 and Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.
- (44) In view of the very substantial amendments that would need to be made to Directive 2005/60/EC and Directive 2006/70/EC, they should be merged and replaced for reasons of clarity and consistency.
- (45) Since the objective of this Directive, namely the protection of the financial system by means of prevention, investigation and detection of money laundering and terrorist financing, cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States, as individual measures adopted by Member States to protect their financial systems could be inconsistent with the functioning of the internal market and with the prescriptions of the rule of law and Union public policy and can therefore, by reason of the scale and effects of the action, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve that objective.
- (46) This Directive respects the fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, in particular, the respect for private and family life, the right to protection of personal data, the freedom to conduct a business, the prohibition of discrimination, the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial, and the right of defence.
- (47) In line with Article 21 of the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights prohibiting any discrimination based on any ground, Member States have to ensure that this Directive is implemented, as regards risk assessments in the context of customer due diligence, without discrimination.

- (48) In accordance with the Joint Political Declaration of Member States and the Commission of 28 September 2011 on explanatory documents, Member States have undertaken to accompany, in justified cases, the notification of their transposition measures with one or more documents explaining the relationship between the components of a directive and the corresponding parts of national transposition instruments. With regard to this Directive, the legislator considers the transmission of such documents to be justified,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

4. For the purposes of this Directive, ‘terrorist financing’ means the provision or collection of funds, by any means, directly or indirectly, with the intention that they should be used or in the knowledge that they are to be used, in full or in part, in order to carry out any of the offences within the meaning of Articles 1 to 4 of Council Framework Decision 2002/475/JHA of 13 June 2002 on combating terrorism<sup>13</sup>, as amended by Council Framework Decision 2008/919/JHA of 28 November 2008<sup>14</sup>.
5. Knowledge, intent or purpose required as an element of the activities referred to in paragraphs 2 and 4 may be inferred from objective factual circumstances.

1a. With the exception of casinos and online gambling, Member States may decide to exempt fully or in part providers of certain gambling services from national provisions transposing the provisions of this Directive on the basis of the proven low risk posed by the nature and scale of operations of such service providers.

Any decision taken by a Member State pursuant to this paragraph shall be notified to the Commission.

2. Member States may decide that legal and natural persons, who engage in a financial activity on an occasional or very limited basis where there is little risk of money laundering or terrorist financing occurring, do not fall within the scope of this Directive provided that the legal or natural person fulfils all of the following criteria:

- (a) the financial activity is limited in absolute terms;
- (b) the financial activity is limited on a transaction basis;
- (c) the financial activity is not the main activity;

4. For the purposes of point (b) of paragraph 2, Member States shall apply a maximum threshold per customer and single transaction, whether the transaction is carried out in a single operation or in several operations which appear to be linked. That threshold shall be established at national level, depending on the type of financial activity. It shall be sufficiently low in order to ensure that the types of transactions in question are an impractical and inefficient method for laundering money or for terrorist financing, and shall not exceed EUR 1 000.
5. For the purposes of point (c) of paragraph 2, Member States shall require that the turnover of the financial activity does not exceed 5 % of the total turnover of the legal or natural person concerned.
6. In assessing the risk of money laundering or terrorist financing occurring for the purposes of this Article, Member States shall pay special attention to any financial activity which is regarded as particularly likely, by its nature, to be used or abused for money laundering or terrorist financing purposes.
7. Any decision pursuant to this Article shall state the reasons on which it is based. Member States shall provide for the possibility of withdrawing that decision should circumstances change.
8. Member States shall establish risk-based monitoring activities or take any other adequate measures to ensure that the exemption granted by decisions pursuant to this Article is not abused.

This period of time shall not be less than 18 months.

Article 23

2. ## REPORTING OBLIGATIONS

SECTION 1

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 31

1. Each Member State shall establish an FIU in order to effectively combat money laundering and terrorist financing.
2. Member States shall notify the Commission in writing of the name and address of the respective FIUs.
3. The FIU shall be established as an operationally independent and autonomous central national unit. The FIU shall be responsible for receiving and analysing suspicious transaction reports and other information relevant to money laundering, associated predicate offences or potential terrorist financing [...]. The FIU shall be responsible for disseminating the results of its analysis to the competent authorities when there are grounds to suspect money laundering, predicate offences or terrorist financing. It shall be able to obtain additional information from obliged entities.

The FIU shall be provided with adequate financial, human and technical resources in order to fulfil its tasks.

4. Member States shall ensure that the FIU has access, directly or indirectly, on a timely basis, to the financial, administrative and law enforcement information that it requires to properly fulfil its tasks. [...] FIUs shall be able to respond to motivated requests for information by competent authorities in their Member State when these authorities conduct investigations on money laundering associated predicate offences and terrorist financing. The decision on conducting the analysis or dissemination of information shall remain with the FIU. Where there are factual reasons to assume that the provision of such information would have a negative impact on ongoing investigations or analyses, or, in exceptional circumstances, where divulcation of the information would be clearly disproportionate to the legitimate interests of a natural or legal person or irrelevant with regard to the purposes for which it has been requested the FIU is under no obligation to comply with the request. Member States shall require competent authorities to provide feedback to the FIU about the use made of the information provided in accordance with this article and about the outcome of the investigations performed on its basis.
5. Member States shall ensure that the FIU is empowered to take urgent action, either directly or indirectly, when there is a suspicion that a transaction is related to money laundering or terrorist financing, to suspend or withhold consent to a transaction going ahead in order to analyse the transaction, confirm the suspicion and disseminate the results of the analysis to competent authorities. The FIU shall be empowered to take such action at the request of an FIU from another Member State for the periods and under the conditions specified in the national law of the FIU receiving the request.
6. The FIU's analysis function shall consist of an operational analysis which focusses on:
- (a) individual cases and specific targets or on appropriate selected information, depending on the type and volume of the disclosures received and the expected use after dissemination and
  - (b) a strategic analysis addressing money laundering and terrorist financing trends and patterns.

Article 32

1. Member States shall require obliged entities, and where applicable their directors and employees, to cooperate fully:
  - (a) by promptly filing a report with the FIU, on their own initiative, where the obliged entity knows, suspects or has reasonable grounds to suspect that funds are the proceeds of criminal activity or are related to terrorist financing and by promptly responding to requests by the FIU for additional information in such cases;
  - (b) by promptly furnishing the FIU, at its request, with all necessary information, in accordance with the procedures established by the applicable legislation.
2. The information referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be forwarded to the FIU of the Member State in whose territory the obliged entity forwarding the information is situated. The person or persons designated in accordance with the procedures provided for in Article 8(4) shall forward the information.

Article 33

1. By way of derogation from Article 32(1), Member States may, in the case of the persons referred to in Article 2(1)(3)(a), (b), and (d) designate an appropriate self-regulatory body of the profession concerned as the authority to receive the information referred to in Article 32(1).

Without prejudice to paragraph 2, the designated self-regulatory body shall in cases referred to in the first subparagraph forward the information to the FIU promptly and unfiltered.

2. Member States shall not apply the obligations laid down in Article 32(1) to notaries, other independent legal professionals, auditors, external accountants and tax advisors only to the strict extent that such exemption relates to information they receive from or obtain on one of their clients, in the course of ascertaining the legal position for their client or performing their task of defending or representing that client in, or concerning judicial proceedings, including advice on instituting or avoiding proceedings, whether such information is received or obtained before, during or after such proceedings and is necessary to ensure respect of the rights guaranteed in the articles 47 and 48 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union.

Article 34

1. Member States shall require obliged entities to refrain from carrying out transactions which they know or suspect to be related to funds that are proceeds of criminal activity or are related to terrorist financing, until they have completed the necessary action in accordance with Article 32(1)(a) and complied with any further specific instructions from the competent authorities in conformity with the legislation of the relevant Member State.
2. Where such a transaction is suspected to involve funds that are related to money laundering, associated predicate offences or terrorist financing and where to refrain in such manner is impossible or is likely to frustrate efforts to pursue the beneficiaries of a suspected [...] operation, the obliged entities concerned shall inform the FIU immediately afterwards.

Article 35

1. Member States shall ensure that if, in the course of inspections carried out in the obliged entities by the competent authorities referred to in Article 45, or in any other way, those authorities discover facts that could be related to money laundering or terrorist financing, they shall promptly inform the FIU.
2. Member States shall ensure that supervisory bodies empowered by law or regulation to oversee the stock, foreign exchange and financial derivatives markets inform the FIU if they discover facts that could be related to money laundering or terrorist financing.

Article 36

The disclosure in good faith as foreseen in Articles 32 (1) and 33 by an obliged entity or by an employee or director of such an obliged entity of the information referred to in Articles 32 and 33 shall not constitute a breach of any restriction on disclosure of information imposed by contract or by any legislative, regulatory or administrative provision, and shall not involve the obliged entity or its directors or employees in liability of any kind even if they did not know precisely what the underlying criminal activity was, and regardless of whether illegal activity actually occurred.

Article 37

Member States shall take [...] appropriate measures in order to protect directors or employees of the obliged entity who report suspicions of money laundering or terrorist financing either internally or to the FIU from being exposed to threats or hostile action.

SECTION 2

PROHIBITION OF DISCLOSURE

Article 38

1. Obligated entities and their directors and employees shall not disclose to the customer concerned or to other third persons the fact that information has been transmitted in accordance with Articles 32 and 33 or that a money laundering or terrorist financing analysis is being or may be carried out.
2. The prohibition laid down in paragraph 1 shall not include disclosure to the competent authorities of Member States, including the self-regulatory bodies, or disclosure for law enforcement purposes.
3. The prohibition laid down in paragraph 1 shall not prevent disclosure between institutions from Member States, or from third countries which impose requirements equivalent to those laid down in this Directive provided that they belong to the same group.
4. The prohibition laid down in paragraph 1 shall not prevent disclosure between persons referred to in Article 2(1)(3)(a) and (b) from Member States, or from third countries which impose requirements equivalent to those laid down in this Directive, who perform their professional activities, whether as employees or not, within the same legal person or a network.

For the purposes of the first subparagraph, a "network" shall mean the larger structure to which the person belongs and which shares common ownership, management or compliance control.

5. For entities or persons referred to in Article 2(1)(1), (2) and (3)(a) and (b) in cases related to the same customer and the same transaction involving two or more institutions or persons, the prohibition laid down in paragraph 1 of this Article shall not prevent disclosure between the relevant institutions or persons provided that they are situated in a Member State, or in a third country which imposes requirements equivalent to those laid down in this Directive, and that they are from the same professional category and are subject to obligations as regards professional secrecy and personal data protection.
6. Where the persons referred to in Article 2(1)(3)(a) and (b) seek to dissuade a client from engaging in illegal activity, this shall not constitute a disclosure within the meaning of paragraph 1.

CHAPTER V

RECORD KEEPING AND STATISTICAL DATA

Article 39

Member States shall require obliged entities to retain the following documents and information in accordance with national law for the purpose of the prevention, detection and investigation of possible money laundering or terrorist financing by the FIU or by other competent authorities:

- (a) in the case of the customer due diligence, a copy [...] of the documents, evidence and information obtained, for a period of five years after the occasional transaction was carried out or after the business relationship with their customer has ended. Upon expiration of that five-year period, personal data shall be deleted unless otherwise provided for by national law, which shall determine under which circumstances obliged entities may or shall further retain data. Member States may allow or require further retention only if necessary for the prevention, detection or investigation of money laundering and terrorist financing. The maximum retention period shall not exceed ten years;

- (b) the supporting evidence and records of transactions, consisting of the original documents or copies admissible in court proceedings under the applicable national legislation for a period of five years following either the carrying-out of the transactions or the end of the business relationship, whichever expires first. Upon expiration of this period, personal data shall be deleted, unless otherwise provided for by national law, which shall determine under which circumstances obliged entities may or shall further retain data. Member States may allow or require further retention only if necessary for the prevention, detection or investigation of money laundering and terrorist financing. The maximum retention period following either the carrying-out of the transactions or the end of the business relationship, whichever period expires first, shall not exceed ten years.

Article 40

Member States shall require that their obliged entities have systems in place that enable them to respond fully and rapidly to enquiries from the FIU, or from other authorities, in accordance with their national law, as to whether they maintain or have maintained during the previous five years a business relationship with specified natural or legal persons and on the nature of that relationship, through secure channels and in a manner that ensures full confidentiality of the enquiries.

Article 41

1. Member States shall, for the purposes of contributing to the preparation of national risk assessments pursuant to Article 7, ensure that they are able to review the effectiveness of their systems to combat money laundering or terrorist financing by maintaining comprehensive statistics on matters relevant to the effectiveness of such systems.
2. Statistics referred to in paragraph 1 shall include:

3. Member States shall ensure that a consolidated review of their statistical reports is published and shall transmit to the Commission the statistics referred to in paragraph 2.

CHAPTER VI

POLICIES, PROCEDURES AND SUPERVISION

SECTION 1

INTERNAL PROCEDURES, TRAINING AND FEEDBACK

Article 42

1. Member States shall, in addition to the obligations under this Directive binding individual obliged entities, require obliged entities that are part of a group to implement group-wide policies and procedures, including data protection policies and policies and procedures for sharing information within the group for anti-money laundering and combating terrorist financing purposes. Those policies and procedures shall be implemented effectively at the level of branches and majority-owned subsidiaries in Member States and third countries.
  - 1a. Member States shall require that obliged entities that operate establishments in another Member State ensure that these establishments respect the national provisions of that other Member State pertaining to this Directive.
2. Member States shall ensure that where obliged entities have branches or majority-owned subsidiaries located in third countries where the minimum anti-money laundering and combating terrorist financing requirements are less strict than those of the Member State, their branches and majority-owned subsidiaries located in the third country implement the requirements of the Member State, including data protection, to the extent that the third country's laws and regulations so allow.
3. The Member States, EBA, EIOPA and ESMA shall inform each other of cases where the legislation of the third country does not permit application of the measures required under paragraph 1 and coordinated action could be taken to pursue a solution.

4. Member States shall require that, where the legislation of the third country does not permit application of the measures required under paragraph 1, obliged entities ensure that branches and majority owned subsidiaries in this third country apply additional measures to effectively handle the risk of money laundering or terrorist financing, and inform their home supervisors. If the additional measures are not sufficient, competent authorities in the home country shall exercise additional supervisory actions, including, requiring not to establish or terminate business relationships and not to undertake transactions and where necessary requesting the group to close down its operations in this third country.
5. EBA, EIOPA and ESMA shall develop draft regulatory technical standards specifying the type of additional measures referred to in paragraph 4 of this Article and the minimum action to be taken by obliged entities referred to in Article 2(1)(1) and (2) where the legislation of the third country does not permit application of the measures required under paragraphs 1 and 2. EBA, EIOPA and ESMA shall submit those draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission within two years of the date of entry into force of this Directive.
6. Power is delegated to the Commission to adopt the regulatory technical standards referred to in paragraph 5 in accordance with the procedure laid down in Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010, of Regulation (EU) No 1094/2010 and of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.
7. Member States shall ensure that sharing of information within the group is allowed. Information on suspicions that funds are the proceeds of criminal activity or are related to terrorist financing reported to the FIU shall be shared within the group only with prior consent of the FIU.
8. Member States may require issuers of electronic money as defined by Directive 2009/110/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>22</sup> and payment providers as defined by Directive 2007/64/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>23</sup> established on their territory in forms other than a branch, and whose head office is situated in another Member State [...], to appoint a central contact point in their territory to oversee the compliance with anti-money laundering and terrorist financing rules and provide competent authorities with documents and information on request.

9. EBA, EIOPA and ESMA shall develop draft regulatory technical standards on the criteria for determining the circumstances when the appointment of a central contact point pursuant to paragraph 8 above is appropriate, and what the functions of central contact points should be. EBA, ESMA and EIOPA shall submit these draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission within two years of the date of entry into force of this Directive.
10. Power is delegated to the Commission to adopt the regulatory technical standards referred to in paragraph 9 in accordance with the procedure laid down in Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010, of Regulation (EU) No 1094/2010 and of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.

Article 43

1. Member States shall require that obliged entities take measures proportionate to their risks, nature and size so that their employees are aware of the provisions adopted pursuant to this Directive, including relevant data protection requirements.

These measures shall include participation of their employees in special ongoing training programmes to help them recognise operations which may be related to money laundering or terrorist financing and to instruct them as to how to proceed in such cases.

Where a natural person falling within any of the categories listed in Article 2(1)(3) performs his professional activities as an employee of a legal person, the obligations in this Section shall apply to that legal person rather than to the natural person.

2. Member States shall ensure that obliged entities have access to up-to-date information on the practices of money launderers and terrorist financiers and on indications leading to the recognition of suspicious transactions.
3. Member States shall ensure that, wherever practicable, timely feedback on the effectiveness of and follow-up to reports of suspected money laundering or terrorist financing is provided.

5. Member States shall ensure that the competent authorities of the Member State in which the branch or subsidiary is established shall cooperate with the competent authorities of the Member State in which the obliged entity has its head office, to ensure effective supervision of the requirements of this Directive.
6. Member States shall ensure that when applying a risk-sensitive approach to supervision, competent authorities:
  - (a) have a clear understanding of the money laundering and terrorist financing risks present in their country;
  - (b) have on-site and off-site access to all relevant information on the specific domestic and international risks associated with customers, products and services of the obliged entities; and
  - (c) base the frequency and intensity of on-site and off-site supervision on the risk profile of the obliged entity, and on the money laundering and terrorist financing risks present in the country.
7. The assessment of the money laundering and terrorist financing risk profile of obliged entities, including the risks of non-compliance, shall be reviewed both periodically and when there are major events or developments in the management and operations of the obliged entity.
8. Member States shall ensure that competent authorities take into account the degree of discretion allowed to the obliged entity, and appropriately review the risk assessments underlying this discretion, and the adequacy and implementation of its policies, internal controls and procedures.
9. In the case of the obliged entities referred to in Article 2(1)(3)(a), (b) and (d) Member States may allow the functions referred to in paragraph 1 to be performed by self-regulatory bodies, provided that they comply with paragraph 2 of this Article.

Specific account should be taken of the nature and size of the business, and where appropriate and proportionate, specific measures should be foreseen. These guidelines shall be issued within 2 years of the date of entry into force of this Directive.

SECTION 3

CO-OPERATION

SUBSECTION I

NATIONAL CO-OPERATION

Article 46

Member States shall ensure that policy makers, the FIUs, [...] supervisors and other competent authorities involved in anti-money laundering and combating terrorist financing have effective mechanisms to enable them to co-operate and co-ordinate domestically concerning the development and implementation of policies and activities to combat money laundering and terrorist financing, including with a view to fulfilling their obligation under Article 7 of this Directive.

SUBSECTION II

Article 47

The competent authorities shall provide EBA, EIOPA and ESMA with all the information necessary to carry out their duties under this Directive.

SUBSECTION III

Article 48

The Commission may lend such assistance as may be needed to facilitate coordination, including the exchange of information between FIUs within the Union. It shall regularly convene [...] representatives from Member States' FIUs, namely in the form of the EU Financial Intelligence Units' Platform, in order to facilitate cooperation among national FIUs and exchange views on co-operation related issues such as effective international FIU co-operation, the identification of suspicious transactions with a cross-border dimension, the standardisation of reporting formats through the FIU.net network or its successor and the joint analysis of cross-border cases as well as trends and factors relevant to assessing money laundering and terrorist financing risks both on the national and supranational level.

Article 49

Member States shall ensure that their FIUs co-operate with each other to the greatest extent possible [...].

Article 50

1. Member States shall ensure that FIUs exchange, spontaneously or upon request, any information that may be relevant for the processing or analysis of information by the FIU related to money laundering or terrorist financing and the natural or legal person involved, even if the type of predicate offences possibly involved is not identified at the time of the exchange. A request shall contain the relevant facts, background information, reasons for the request and how the information sought will be used. Different exchange mechanisms may apply if so agreed between the FIUs, in particular as regards exchanges through the decentralised computer network FIU.net.

When an FIU receives a report pursuant to Article 32(1)(a) of this Directive, which concerns another Member State, it shall promptly and without any filter forward it to the FIU of that Member State.

2. Member States shall ensure that the FIU to whom the request is made is required to use the whole range of its powers which it would use domestically for receiving and analysing information when it replies to a request for information referred to in paragraph 1 from another FIU based in the Union. The FIU to whom the request is made shall respond in a timely manner.
3. An FIU may refuse to divulge information only in exceptional circumstances where the exchange could impair fundamental national interests. These exceptions should be specified in a way which prevents misuse and undue limitations to the free exchange of information for analytical purposes.

Article 51

Information and documents received pursuant to Articles 49 and 50 shall be used for the accomplishment of the FIU's tasks as laid down in this Directive. When transmitting information and documents pursuant to Articles 49 and 50, the transmitting FIU may impose restrictions and conditions for the use of that information. The receiving FIU shall comply with those restrictions and conditions.

Article 52

1. Member States shall ensure that the exchanged information is used only for the purpose for which it was sought or provided and that any dissemination of the information submitted pursuant to Articles 49 and 50 by the receiving FIU to any other authority, agency or department, or any use of this information for [...] purposes [...] beyond those originally approved, is made subject to the prior authorisation by the FIU providing the information. [...].

- 2. The requested FIU's prior consent to disseminate the information to competent authorities should be granted promptly and to the largest extent possible. The requested FIU should not refuse its consent to such dissemination unless this would fall beyond the scope of application of its AML/CFT provisions, could lead to impairment of a criminal investigation, would be clearly disproportionate to the legitimate interests of a natural or legal person or the State of the providing FIU, or would otherwise not be in accordance with fundamental principles of its national law. Any such refusal to grant consent shall be appropriately explained.

Article 53

1. Member States shall require their FIUs to use protected channels of communication between themselves and encourage the use of the FIU.net network.
2. Member States shall ensure that, in order to fulfil their tasks as laid down in this Directive, their FIUs co-operate to apply state-of-the-art technologies. These technologies shall allow FIUs to match their data with other FIUs in an anonymous way by ensuring full protection of personal data with the aim to detect subjects of the FIU's interests in other Member States and identify their proceeds and funds.

Article 54

SANCTIONS

Article 55

1. Member States shall ensure that obliged entities can be held liable for breaches of the national provisions adopted pursuant to this Directive in accordance with Articles 55 to 58.
2. Without prejudice to the right of Member States to provide for and impose criminal penalties, Member States shall lay down rules on administrative penalties and other administrative measures in respect of breaches of the national provisions transposing this Directive, and shall take all measures necessary to ensure that they are implemented. Those measures and penalties shall be effective, proportionate and dissuasive.

Where Member States decide not to lay down rules for administrative penalties for breaches which are subject to national criminal law they shall communicate to the Commission the relevant criminal law provisions [...].

3. Member States shall ensure that where obligations apply to legal persons in the event of a breach of national provisions transposing this Directive, penalties and measures can be applied, subject to the conditions laid down in national law, to the members of the management body and to other natural persons who under national law are responsible for the breach.
4. Member States shall ensure that the competent authorities have, in accordance with Article 45(2) and (3), all the supervisory and investigatory powers that are necessary for the exercise of their functions.
5. Competent authorities shall exercise their powers to impose penalties and measures in accordance with this Directive and with national law, in any of the following ways:
  - (a) directly;
  - (b) in collaboration with other authorities;
  - (c) under their responsibility by delegation to such authorities;
  - (d) by application to the competent judicial authorities.

In the exercise of their powers to impose penalties and measures, competent authorities shall cooperate closely to ensure that administrative measures or penalties produce the desired results and coordinate their action when dealing with cross border cases.

Article 56

1. This Article shall at least apply to situations where obliged entities demonstrate serious, repetitive or systematic failings in relation to the requirements of the following Articles:
  - (a) 9 to 23 (customer due diligence);
  - (b) 32, 33 and 34 (suspicious transaction reporting);
  - (c) 39 (record keeping); and
  - (d) 42 and 43 (internal controls).

2. Member States shall ensure that in the cases referred to in paragraph 1, the administrative measures and penalties that can be applied to persons responsible include at least the following:
- (a) a public statement which identifies the natural or legal person responsible for the breach and the nature of the breach;
  - (b) an order requiring the natural or legal person responsible for the breach to cease the conduct and to desist from a repetition of that conduct;
  - (c) where an obliged entity is subject to an authorisation, withdrawal or suspension of the authorisation;

  - (f) in the case of a natural person, administrative pecuniary penalties of up to EUR 5 000 000, or in the Member States whose currency is not the euro, the corresponding value in the national currency on the date of entry into force of this Directive;
  - (g) administrative pecuniary penalties of up to twice the amount of the benefit derived from the breach where that benefit can be determined.

Article 57

1. Member States shall ensure that a decision imposing an administrative penalty or measure for breach of this Directive against which there is no appeal shall be published by competent authorities on their official website immediately after the legal or natural person sanctioned is informed of that decision. The publication shall include at least information on the type and nature of the breach and the identity of the legal or natural persons responsible. Member States are not obliged to apply the above provisions to decisions imposing measures that are of an investigatory nature.

However, where the publication of the identity of the legal persons or personal data of natural persons is considered by the competent authority to be disproportionate following a case-by-case assessment conducted on the proportionality of the publication of such data, or where publication jeopardizes the stability of financial markets or an on-going investigation, competent authorities shall either:

- (a) delay the publication of the decision to impose a sanction or a measure until the moment where the reasons for non publication cease to exist;
  - (b) publish the decision to impose a sanction or a measure on an anonymous basis in a manner which is in conformity with national law, if such anonymous publication ensures an effective protection of the personal data concerned; In the case of a decision to publish a sanction or measure on an anonymous basis the publication of the relevant data may be postponed for a reasonable period of time if it is foreseen that within that period the reasons for anonymous publication shall cease to exist.
  - (c) not publish the decision to impose a sanction or measure at all in the event that the options set out in (a) and (b) above are considered insufficient to ensure:
    - (i) that the stability of financial markets would not be put in jeopardy; or
    - (ii) the proportionality of the publication of such decisions with regard to measures which are deemed to be of a minor nature.
- 1a. Where Member States permit publication of decisions against which there is an appeal, competent authorities shall also publish, immediately, on their official website such information and any subsequent information on the outcome of such appeal. Moreover, any decision annulling a previous decision to impose a sanction or a measure shall also be published.

- 1b. Competent authorities shall ensure that any publication in accordance with this Article, shall remain on their official website for a period of five years after its publication. Personal data contained in the publication shall only be kept on the official website of the competent authority for the period which is necessary in accordance with the applicable data protection rules.
2. Member States shall ensure that when determining the type and level of administrative penalties or measures, the competent authorities shall take into account all relevant circumstances, including where appropriate:
  - (a) the gravity and the duration of the breach;
  - (b) the degree of responsibility of the responsible natural or legal person;
  - (c) the financial strength of the responsible natural or legal person, as indicated for example by the total turnover of the responsible legal person or the annual income of the responsible natural person;
  - (d) the benefit derived from the breach by the responsible natural or legal person, insofar as it can be determined;
  - (e) the losses for third parties caused by the breach, insofar as they can be determined;
  - (f) the level of cooperation of the responsible person with the competent authority
  - (g) previous breaches by the responsible natural or legal person.
3. deleted
4. Member States shall ensure that legal persons can be held liable for infringements referred to in paragraph 1 of Article 56 committed for their benefit by any person, acting either individually or as part of an organ of the legal person, and having a leading position within the legal person based on any of the following:
  - (e) a power of representation of the legal person;
  - (f) an authority to take decisions on behalf of the legal person; or
  - (g) an authority to exercise control within the legal person.

5. Member States shall also ensure that legal persons can be held liable where the lack of supervision or control by a person referred to in paragraph 4 has made possible the commission of the infringements referred to in Article 56(1) for the benefit of the legal person by a person under its authority.

Article 58

1. Member States shall ensure that competent authorities establish effective and reliable mechanisms to encourage reporting of potential or actual breaches of the national provisions transposing this Directive to competent authorities.
2. The mechanisms referred to in paragraph 1 shall include at least:
  - (a) specific procedures for the receipt of reports on breaches and their follow-up;
  - (b) appropriate protection for employees of obliged entities who report breaches committed within the obliged entity;
  - (c) protection of personal data concerning both the person who reports the breaches and the natural person who is allegedly responsible for a breach, in compliance with the principles laid down in Directive 95/46/EC.
  - (d) clear rules that ensure that confidentiality is guaranteed in all cases in relation to the person who reports the breaches committed within the obliged entity, unless disclosure is required by national law in the context of further investigations or subsequent judicial proceedings.
3. Member States shall require obliged entities to have in place appropriate procedures for their employees to report breaches internally through a specific, independent and anonymous channel, proportionate to the nature and size of the obliged entity concerned.

Article 58a

- 1. Member States shall ensure that the competent authorities inform EBA of all administrative penalties and measures imposed under Articles 55 and 56 including any appeal in relation thereto and the outcome thereof. EBA shall maintain a central database of administrative penalties and measures communicated to it solely for the purposes of exchanging information between competent authorities. That database shall be accessible to competent authorities only and it shall be updated on the basis of the information provided by competent authorities.

- 2. Member States shall require competent authorities when assessing the appropriateness of persons for the purposes of Article 44 to consult the database of administrative penalties mentioned in paragraph 1 of this Article. In the event of a change of status or a successful appeal, EBA shall delete or update relevant entries in the database on request by the competent authorities.
- 3. The competent authorities, in accordance with Decision 2009/316/JHA, Framework Decision 2009/315/JHA and their national law, check the existence of a relevant conviction in the criminal record of the person concerned, and exchange information.
- 4. EBA shall maintain a website with links to each competent authority's publication of administrative penalties and measures under Article 57 and shall show the time period for which each Member State publishes administrative penalties and measures.
