REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL on the common organisation of the markets in fishery and aquaculture products

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Articles 42 and 43(2) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national Parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee⁸,

Having regard to the opinion of the Committee of the Regions⁹,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

⁸ OJ C 225, 25.7.2012, p. 20.

⁹ OJ C 181, 21.6.2012, p. 183.

Whereas:

- (1) The scope of the Common Fisheries Policy extends to measures on the markets for fishery and aquaculture products in the Union. The common organisation of the markets in fishery and aquaculture products, hereafter "Common Market Organisation," is an integral part of the Common Fisheries Policy and should contribute to the accomplishment of its objectives. Since the Common Fisheries Policy is being revised, the Common Market Organisation should be adapted accordingly.
- (2) Council Regulation (EC) No 104/2000 of 17 December 1999 on the common organisation of the markets in fishery and aquaculture products¹⁰ needs to be revised to take account of shortcomings detected in the implementation of the provisions currently in force, recent developments in Union and world markets, and the evolution of fishing and aquaculture activities.
- (2a) Fishing plays a particularly important role in the economies of the Union's coastal regions, including the outermost regions (ORs). Given that it provides fishermen in those regions with their livelihood, steps should be taken to foster market stability and a better correspondence between supply and demand.
- (3) The provisions of the Common Market Organisation should be implemented in compliance with the Union international commitments, in particular with regard to the provisions of the World Trade Organisation. The conditions for a fair competition in the trade in fishery and aquaculture products with third countries should be ensured, in particular through respect for requirements of sustainability and social standards equivalent to those which apply to the European products.
- (4) The Common Market Organisation should contribute to achieving the objectives of the Common Fisheries Policy.

- (5) Since those objectives cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States due to the common nature of the market in fishery and aquaculture products and can therefore, by reason of the need for further common action, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity, as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty of the European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Regulation does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
- (6) It is important that the management of the Common Market Organisation is guided by the principles of good governance of the Common Fisheries Policy.
- (6a) *In order for the Common Market Organisation to be a success, it is essential that consumers are informed, through marketing and educational campaigns, about the value of eating fish and the wide variety of species available, and told of the importance of being able to understand the information contained on labels;
- (7) Producer organisations are the key actors for the appropriate application of the Common Fisheries Policy and the Common Market Organisation. It is therefore necessary to strengthen their objectives and to provide the necessary financial support to allow them to play a more meaningful role in the day-to-day management of fisheries, acting within a framework defined by the CFP objectives. It is also necessary to ensure that their members carry out fishing and aquaculture activities in a sustainable manner, improve the placing on the market of products, seek to improve their income and collect information on aquaculture. When realising these objectives, producer organisations should take account of the different conditions of the fishery and aquaculture sectors prevailing in the Union, including as regards the outermost regions, in particular the specificities of small-scale fisheries and extensive aquaculture. It should be possible for Member States authorities to take responsibility for the implementation of those objectives, working closely with producer organisations on management issues, including, where appropriate, the allocation of quotas and the management of fishing effort, according to the needs of each particular fishery.
- (7a) *Measures should be taken to encourage the appropriate and representative participation of small scale producers.

- (7b) In order to strengthen the competitiveness and viability of producer organisations, appropriate criteria for their establishment should be clearly defined.
- (8) Inter-branch organisations gathering different categories of operators may help to improve the coordination of marketing activities within the value chain and to develop measures of interest for the whole sector.
- (9) It is appropriate to lay down common conditions for the recognition of producer organisations and inter-branch organisations by Member States, for extension of the rules adopted by producer organisations and inter-branch organisations, and for the costs resulting from such extension to be shared. The procedure for extension of rules should be subject to authorisation by the Commission.
- (10) In order that producer organisations can steer their members towards sustainable fishery and aquaculture activities, producer organisations should define and submit to the competent authorities of the Member States a production and marketing plan with the necessary measures to fulfil their objectives.
- (10a) In order to attain the objectives of the Common Fisheries Policy as regards discards, widespread use needs to be made of selective fishing gear that will prevent under-size fish from being caught.
- (11) The unpredictability of fishing activities makes it appropriate to set up a mechanism of storing fishery products for human consumption with a view to foster greater market stability and to increase the return on products, in particular by creating added value. This mechanism should contribute to the stabilisation and convergence of the Union local markets with a view to achieving the single market.
- (11b) The Commission should encourage supportive measures to foster the participation of women in aquaculture producer organisations.
- (12) In order to take account of the diversity of prices throughout the Union, each producer organisation should be entitled to make a proposal for a price to trigger the storage mechanism. This trigger price should be set in a way that healthy and fair competition between operators be maintained.

- (13) As fish stocks are shared resources, their sustainable and efficient exploitation can, in certain instances, be better achieved by organisations composed of members from different Member States and different regions. Therefore it is necessary ■ also to encourage the possibility ■ to set up transnational producer organisations and associations of producer organisations at transnational level, based, where appropriate, on biogeographical regions. Such organisations should be intended to be partnerships that aim to produce common and binding rules, and to provide a level-playing field for all stakeholders that are engaged in the fishery. In setting up such organisations, it is necessary to ensure that they remain subject to competition rules as foreseen in the present regulation and that the need is respected to maintain the link between individual coastal communities and the fisheries and waters that they have historically exploited.
- (14) The application of common marketing standards should permit the market to be supplied with sustainable products, to realise the full potential of the internal market in fishery and aquaculture products, and to facilitate commerce based on fair competition, thus helping to improve the profitability of production. To this end, the existing marketing standards should continue to apply.
- (15) It is necessary to ensure that imported products entering the Union market comply with the same requirements and marketing standards as Union producers have to meet.
- (15a) In order to guarantee a high level of protection of human health, fishery and aquaculture products placed on the Union market, regardless of their origin, shall comply with applicable rules on food safety and hygiene.
- (16) It is necessary for consumers to be provided with clear and comprehensive information on, inter alia, the origin and the method of production of the products in order to enable consumers to make informed choices.
- (16a) The use of an eco-label for fisheries products, originating from both inside and outside the Union, offers the possibility of providing clear information on the ecological sustainability of fisheries products. It is therefore necessary for the Commission to examine the possibility of developing and establishing minimum criteria for the development of a Union-wide ecolabel for fisheries products.

- (16b) In order to safeguard European consumers, Member State authorities responsible for monitoring and enforcing the fulfilment of the obligations laid down in this Regulation should make full use of available technology, including DNA-testing, in order to deter operators from falsely labelling catches.
- (17) The rules on competition relating to agreements, decisions and practices referred to in Article 101 of the treaty should apply to the production or marketing of fishery and aquaculture products, in so far as their application does not impede the functioning of the common organisation of the markets or jeopardise the attainment of the objectives of Article 39 of the treaty.
- (18) It is appropriate to lay down competition rules applicable to the production and marketing of fishery and aquaculture products, taking into account the specific features of the fishery and aquaculture sector, including fragmentation of the sector, the fact that fish is a shared resource and the large extent of imports, which should be governed by the same rules as Union fishery and aquaculture products. For the sake of simplification, the relevant provisions of Regulation (EC) No 1184/2006 of 24 July 2006 applying certain rules of competition to the production of and trade in certain agricultural products should be incorporated into this Regulation. Regulation (EC) No 1184/2006 should therefore no longer apply to fishery and aquaculture products.
- (19) It is necessary to improve the economic information on the markets in fishery and aquaculture products in the Union.
- (21) In order to ensure uniform conditions for the implementation of Articles 25, 31, 34 and 37 of this Regulation, implementing powers should be conferred upon the Commission. Those powers should be exercised in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 February 2011 laying down the rules and general principles concerning mechanisms for control of by Member States of the Commission's exercise of implementing powers.
- (22) Council Regulation (EC) No 104/2000 should be repealed but Articles 9, 10, 11, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38 and 39 should continue to apply until the entry into force of the Regulation on the European Fisheries and Maritime Fund,

Draft Statement by the European Parliament and by the Council on control rules in the area of product traceability and consumer information

As a follow-up to the reform of the Regulation on Common Organisation of the Markets for fishery and aquaculture products, the European Parliament and the Council invite the European Commission to submit to them a proposal aiming at amending the Control Regulation (Regulation No 1224/2009). Such amendment should take into account the need for regulating the provision of gear type information as regards products derived from wild capture fisheries.

The European Parliament and the Council also invite the Commission to adopt, in due time, the necessary amendments to the Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) No 404/2011 as regards the mandatory information to the consumer in order to take into account the provisions of this Regulation, the Control Regulation, as amended, and Regulation 1169/2011 on the provision of food information to consumers.
